SUFFRAGETTES WAR WITH ACID

British Election Occasion of Dangerous Attack.

Women Try to Ruin Ballots in London Borough.

Unionists Win; Set-Back for Budget Supporters.

LONDON, Oct. 28.—The by-election today in the Bermondsey division of southward, a Parliamentary borough of London, was characterized by the most militant attack the suffragettes have ventured to make in their struggle for "votes for women." The election resulted in a sweeping victory for the Unionists.

John Humphreys, Unionist, won the three-cornered fight, with a plurality of 1,000 votes.

The suffragettes, who were led by Mrs. Pankhurst, made a desperate attempt to ruin the election by throwing acid on the ballot boxes.

COOK GETS OVATION IN HOME TOWN OF TRADUCER BARRILL.

Explorer in Speech to People of Montana, Which Is Enthusiastically Received, Asks for Fair Deal in Warfare to Rob Him of Glory of Polar Discovery. Evidence Relative to Use of Money Promised.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.)

HAMILTON (Mont.) Oct. 28.—The people of Hamilton and the surrounding towns of the Bitter Root Valley, the home of Edward N. Cook, who made a sworn statement that Dr. Cook never reached the summit of Mount McKinley, turned out in mass tonight to listen to the doctor's story regarding the ascent of the mountain and hear a brief lecture on his trip to the North Pole. Enthusiasm and interest were at fever heat in the valley all day, and when Dr. Cook arrived in Hamilton this afternoon in an automobile, in which he made the trip from Missoula, he was greeted by a crowd that thronged the main street. Dr. Cook went immediately to the Ravalli Hotel. The crowd quickly filled the hotel.

While the action of the meeting was unfavorable to Dr. Cook, the explorer took it coolly and calmly, and after the meeting evidenced no indications of having taken the matter to heart at all. He sat for a long time chatting pleasantly with interested listeners regarding his trip to the pole.

CHALLENGES COOK. The excitement of the meeting did not come until after, Dr. Cook had delivered a brief lecture on his trip to the North Pole, and had delivered his supplementary speech regarding the ascent of Mt. McKinley. As soon as he had finished, Attorney Chauncey, counsel for Prints and Barrill, arose and challenged the statements of Dr. Cook.

This precipitated a discussion and a member of the audience offered a resolution seeking to place the audience on record as disbelieving the statements of Dr. Cook.

Neither those who were opposed to Dr. Cook, nor his friends, would accept the resolution and it was withdrawn by its author. Barrill was called upon, and taking the platform, declared that Dr. Cook's statements regarding the Mount McKinley ascent were incorrect.

Dr. Cook replied by assuring Mr. Barrill's fact that the latter's statements were false. He said that the excitement at this point was intense. Women became excited and the tension was almost at the breaking point. Barrill answered the doctor's assertion by demanding to know why the doctor did not make an affidavit to the effect that he had scaled Mount McKinley.

The challenge no sooner had been issued than it was accepted by the doctor and an affidavit was made by the speaker on the platform, in the presence of the audience, in which he declared that he did ascend Mount McKinley; that Barrill was with him at the time, and that the records of his ascent were left on the summit of the mountain.

The doctor signed the document, but owing to the fact that no notary was in the audience, no seal appears upon it as yet. This detail, the doctor will attend to, it is stated, as soon as he can.

Further discussion of the disputed ascent of the mountain led to the speaker's charge and counter charges back and forth at a lively rate. Barrill's attorney and friends denouncing the statements of the doctor and effect, contending for fair play to all.

QUEEN OF ENGLAND TAKES COOK'S SIDE. (ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.) HAMILTON (Mont.) Oct. 28.—Queen Alexandra through a message received tonight from Dr. Maurice Ewing, American Minister to Denmark, conveys her greetings to Dr. Frederick A. Cook, and expresses absolute confidence in his polar achievement.

Dr. Ewing's letter, which is dated October 7, in part reads: "On Sunday night, last, at the King's dinner at Charlottenlund, Her Majesty, the Queen of England, was kind enough to talk a long time to me, and you were the principal subject of our conversation. She is almost certain to be secured as my daughter, Carmel, or the Countess Holstein-Ledreborg."

"She said: 'When Lieut. Shackleton comes on Saturday I shall endeavor to convert him if he is not already converted.'"

Dr. Cook thanked Dr. Ewing as follows: "The queen's letter, which I received, is a great honor to me. I am sure that the queen's interest in my work will be of great help to me."

STRIFE. DECLARE WAR ON PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

FRENCH CLERICALS OPEN AN ACTIVE CAMPAIGN.

Archbishop of Toulouse Makes an Effort to Conceal Attack on Recent Legislation Separating Church and State—Teachers Warned Not to Heed Demands of Clergy.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.)

PARIS, Oct. 28.—A new and interesting situation has been created by the French Episcopal declaration of war against the public schools of France, and the open attempt initiated by Archbishop Germain of Toulouse to rally the Catholic voters at the general elections of 1910, in support of candidates committed to the defense of church interests.

Archbishop Germain has formed an association of Catholic voters, the object of which is thus described: "We demand the reestablishment of religious peace, first by a direct action between the sovereign and the people, or by new legislation acceptable to both, and assuring full liberty to the church; and, second, the reestablishment of complete liberty of education."

The archbishop says the situation of French Catholics is intolerable, and that they must clear the attitude of their Irish brethren in the days of Daniel O'Connell, and their German brethren, as assumed against Bismarck's Kulturkampf.

M. Doumergue, minister of education, issued today a circular to school teachers instructing them to disregard the demand of the clergy and Catholic parents for the withdrawal of text books placed under the ban by the Episcopate. The circular announces further that children who systematically refuse to attend the classes, and to use text books regularly approved by the government, will be subjected to disciplinary measures.

Although the extreme anti-clerical radicals of the type of former Premier Combes, who have been in the lead for the state to suppress completely the private and religious schools and assume a monopoly of education, the general disposition of the Emperor of Japan will board the warship at Sasebo. The vessel is due to arrive at Yokohama, the Yokohama naval station, on Monday.

All social functions, including the ball which was to have been held at the Foreign Ministry on the Emperor's birthday, have been postponed.

Preparations for an imposing state funeral are being made and a magnificent shrine is being erected in the midst of the tomb and temples of the great Shoguns at Shiba Park.

The Foreign Office is receiving messages of condolence from the head of every state in Europe.

The newspapers republish columns of foreign comment on the assassination of Prince Ito.

Count Inouye, the lifelong friend of Ito, is proceeding to Sasebo, despite his shattered health, and will accompany home the body of his comrade.

ASSASSIN IDENTIFIED AS FORMER EDITOR. (ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.) HARBIN (Manchuria) Oct. 28.—The assassin of Prince Ito was identified today as Inochan Angan, a former editor of a newspaper at Seoul.

He said that he was one of an organization of twenty Koreans who had taken an oath that they would kill the Japanese minister.

The assassin used dum-dum bullets, which had been poisoned with cyanide.

in Portland Home.

Family and Neighbors Are Badly Scared.

No Explanation of Weird Manifestations.

PORTLAND (Or.) Oct. 28.—[Exclusive
Dispatch.] In the home of J. P.

afternoon, a dining-room chair
suddenly reared itself two feet from the seated man and fell with deadly accuracy on his head.

Mrs. Sanders screamed and her husband and self came running in only to find the chair upon itself and fall

in a crash.
From that time on until 6 o'clock this evening the Sanders home witnessed a series of marvellous events.

A clock on a wall shelf turned itself
upside down and fell, chairs upset

themselves at intervals in all the rooms of the house. Articles of bric-a-brac fell from their places one at a time.

No shaking or swaying of house

was manifest at any time.
Neighbors were summoned, but no

one appeared badly frightened.
At last clothes man who stopped at

in his home to take some empty bottles from the side of a lamp from the table. He screamed and ran away.

By 6 o'clock several hundred people had gathered in front of the Sanders home and some were inside. The police were called to keep order.

Finally the weird manifestations ceased. The Sanders family believed in spiritualism, and all declared that they had been interested in or experienced "mediumistic" tendencies.

The present trouble during the upper part of the evening was as badly

as any body.

RESTRICTION FOR PORTLAND.
PORTLAND (Or.) Oct. 28.—[Exclusive
Dispatch.] As the result of a

Charles N. Crittenton to Portland, the restricted district probably will be established. Mr. Crittenton arrived here just as Mayor Simon had declared, in order to pacify a protesting committee from the Municipal Association,

that the two existing red-light districts should be broken up and their venues driven from the city.

Attention gave out an interview declaring his conviction, based on twenty-seven years of experience, that the only practicable plan was that of a restricted district in every city. President of the rest of the city, he declared, demanded it. Councilman

W. Watkins declared today that the Council is unanimous in indorsement of Mr. Crittenton's views, and will bring them into effect if a way can be found. Mayor Simon says he will not oppose the Council.

COUNTY ASSESSORS FAVOR
CONSERVATION OF TIMBER.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

CHICO, Oct. 28.—The State Association of County Assessors today elected officers and adopted resolu-

The officers were: President, Edward J. Kay, Sacramento; vice-president, M. D. Lack, Shasta; secretary,

Thomas Robinson, Oakland; treasurer,
G. W. Murray, Kings county.
The resolutions favor legislation

providing for the conservation of timber tracts with a view to grazing.
This resolution is in line with a paper

read this morning by C. E. Jarvis of Alpine county, who said that timber land should be graded, and that a law should be levied on land growing young trees, thus encouraging owners not to devastate the forests.

State Comptroller Nye made an address urging close cooperation between the State Board of Equalization

and the county assessors.
The meeting this afternoon was in charge of the State Board, and was presided over by Chairman Alexander Brown. The subject of bank assessments was discussed. Theodore Bell of Napa argued that bank deposits

and bank stock should be taxed. Dr.
Washington Dodge of San Francisco agreed with Mr. Bell, but held that the law did not authorize assessors to demand a list of the depositors of a bank, and that it is not feasible to require the lists.

John Olney of the French-American

Bank of San Francisco said that banks were willing to pay assessments, but that the State Board should not allow a list of the depositors to be made available to the assessors, who would be liable for the assessments.

AGRICULTURAL PARADE AT THE RUSH OF 'FORTY-NINE.

In Marked Contrast to Scene of the Early Mining Days, Procession
Shows What San Joaquin County
Has Been Accomplishing Since the Time of the Argonauts.

DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.
STOCKTON, Oct. 28.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] In marked contrast to the scene of the early mining days, the large crowds that thronged the streets were treated to an interesting parade

of the products of the soil. The parade was heretofore held full away,
but today, agriculturists were given a turn and they surprised even those most familiar with the products and crops of San Joaquin county. A long line of farm wagons, loaded with everything produced in this part of the State, brought forth cheers all along the line.

The wagons were loaded in the same manner that the owners send them to market every day in the year, long before the people are out of bed.

The two great features were presented by Manteca and Ripon. Manteca farmers had a most elaborate display of their products, while Ripon offered

something new in the line of an automobile for advertising as well as commercial purposes. The old stage, the first back brought west, and a lot of other relics, were driven about the streets, and the large number of stories and old timers had many stories

to tell of the old vehicles.
Tonight the streets are filled with people intent on seeing all of the new shows in various parts of the camp

and side streets.

Cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills
Which Enrich the Blood and Send Nourishment to the Starved Nerves.

There is absolutely no way of reaching the nerves with medicine except through the blood. The nerves receive all of their nourishment and support from the blood which, under healthy conditions, carries the elements needed

to rebuild wasted nerve tissue.
It is, therefore, no mystery that Dr.
Williams' Pink Pills are both a blood-builder and a nerve tonic, nothing unrecognized by science is the power of these pills to cure severe nervous disorders as well as diseases of the blood.

Mrs. J. M. Robertson, of R. F. D., San Gabriel, Cal., who was cured of a severe nervous disorder by these pills, says:

"I suffered for nine years with excessive prostration, which was brought on by overwork. Whenever I lay down there was a sensation of pressure on my chest as though something was choking

me. My heart fluttered and I could not sleep well. Every morning I would feel exhausted and as though I had been working very hard. For nine weeks I didn't sleep more than twelve hours even with taking morphine. I had headaches and dizzy spells a good deal and when I closed my eyes there would be yellow spots dancing before them. I had to keep very quiet as any exertion made me worse. I was always imagining all sorts of things. Many times during my sickness I became so exhausted that I was confined to bed for days and weeks without being able to raise up. My blood was thin and my finger nails were thin.

"For about eight years I was almost constantly under the care of doctors.

They simply couldn't do anything for me. Then a friend, who was a nurse, advised me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I did so and felt better right away but I kept on taking the pills until

I felt entirely cured. My cure has been permanent and I can recommend Dr.
Williams' Pink Pills as the best medicine in the world for the blood and nerves."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or sent, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box; six boxes for $2.50, by Dr. Williams' Medicine

Company, Schenectady, N. Y. The genuine are sold only in packages bearing the full trade-mark, "Dr. Williams'

SPOKANE WINS
DRY CONGRESS.Next Session Will Be Held
In Northern City.Resolutions Object to Withdrawals of Land.Ask Government to Investigate Thoroughly.

(Associated Press Night Report.)

BILLINGS (Mont.) Oct. 28.—Sporkane won its hard-fought battle today, and the Fifth Dry Farming Congress will be held there. Three contestants sided for the next meeting—Spokane,
Colorado Springs and Rapid City,
S. D.At today's session, among important matters considered was the report of the Resolutions Committee of the organization. In the report adopted the sentiment against the policy of the interior and Indian departments with reference to withdrawals of public lands is expressed. At least two of the resolutions call the attention of the government to the matter.One of these asks the government thoroughly to investigate the withdrawal from entry of more than 1,000, 000 acres of public land in Northern Idaho to allot it to 125 Canadian Indians known as the Rocky Boys.
The resolution concludes: "And if the facts are found to be as recited herein to request these lands to be settled by actual farmers."ASK EARLY SURVEYS.
The resolution refers to the immense areas of unsurveyed land in sections
now rapidly being settled; urges upon
the government their early survey, and requests members of Congress to give their attention to the subject.Another resolution petitions the government to classify and make subject to sale to actual settlers the millions of acres of rough mountainous lands
now lying idle, as grazing lands.
The resolution suggests that such lands should be sold only to persons residing in the vicinity; that payments should continue over a period of ten years before patent would be issued.Today's sessions were devoted to the following addresses:"Utilization of Dry Farming and Irrigation Methods in Moisture Conservation," Hon. H. F. Newell, director
United States Reclamation Service.
"Fiberland—Dry Farming and Forest Grasses," Prof. Nels Hansen, Agricultural College of South Dakota."Dry Farm Management," Dr. R. F.
Youngblood, special agent in charge of the farm management investigations in Oklahoma and Texas."Practical Reclamation of Dry Farming," Hon. Paris Gibson, former United States Senator, Great Falls, Mont."How Dry Farming Can Be Profitable
in Alberta," Dr. W. Warner, Edmonton, Alberta.The importance of certain critical periods in dry land crop production, Prof. F. D. Farrell, superintendent experiment station, Nephi, Utah.The breeding of Hardy and Drought Resistant Alfalfa," W. A. Wheeler, Mitchell, S. D."Some Dry Farming Crop Production Essentials," Alfred Alderson, Agronomist Agricultural College, Rose-
mar, N. D."Dry Farming in the Southwest," E. K. Edging, Colorado Agricultural College, field commissioner for the Dry Farming Congress."Federal Legislation Affecting Dry Farming," Hon. Frank W. Mondell,
United States Congressman, Newcastle, Wyo.

Mr. Mondell said in part:

SPREAD OF DRY FARMING.
"The spread of dry farming has brought about some changes in our land legislation, and will probably necessitate some further legislation in the future.""Of late years we have witnessed in certain departments of the government service a disposition to interpret laws, not as they are written and intended, but as the public officials, temporarily charged with their administration, think they ought to be written and ought to be interpreted.""Quite recently the country has been stirred over a controversy as to whether the Secretary of the Interior
shall be allowed to exercise the power to administer the laws as they pertain to public land according to their letter and intent, and it has seemed at times that many well-meaning people, who do not understand the merits of the controversy, were inclined to the view that the public official who conceived it to be his duty to follow
the law, must necessarily be wrong."
"Fortunately we have a Chief Executive who believes in the law, who has not lost sight of the fact that this is a government of law, and who insists that under his administration the law shall be respected as constantly and persistently as it shall be enforced."

REGARD FOR LAW.

"As one whose official duties have necessitated a fairly thorough knowledge of the conditions on the public domain, I believe that I can say truthfully and I feel it my duty to say, in the interest of respect and regard for the law, that the sweeping withdrawals of public lands from appropriation, which have been made in recent times under various pretexts without warrant of law and without sufficient reason or excuse if withdrawn by law, have not tended to the proper conservation of the nation's resources in a degree worthy of consideration.""These withdrawals have, on the other hand, entailed a heavy expense
upon the government, and have resulted in annoyance, vexation, hardship and actual loss to settlers which cannot be reckoned. They have made good citizens doubtful of both the wisdom and justice of their government and resulted in what they rightly consider a breach of faith and contract.""If the laws are inadequate in any particular they should be amended, but it is for the people of the country, through their representatives, to say what the laws shall be, rather than
for some bureaucratic, paternalistic,
State socialist individual, temporarily
in a position of power, to set himself up as being superior to the statutes, and as more keenly alive to the interests of the people and more disinterested in their behalf than they are themselves."

REAL HOMESTEAD LAW.

Mr. Mondell commented favorably on the increasing entries under the homestead law, which he characterized as a real homestead law, leading to permanent improvements and homes.Continuing, he said:
"In a number of public land States
where dry farming is practiced, there are very extensive areas of odd lands. They are so extensive that theKOHLSAAT MAY etc., becoming lodged in the appendix,

is an exploded theory. It is now defi-

constipation by the use of physic should be apparent to every one. Laxative drugs and powerful purgatives
will never cure a disease of this sort,
and those who make frequent or regu-

set up an inflammatory condition of

will never be annoyed with chronic constipation, and when this trouble

curing the intestinal indigestion.
They digest every kind of food, a single grain being capable of digesting 3000 grains of alimentum, and in addition to pepsin and other powerful digestives, they also contain dilatants, which causes the food to pass more rapidly into the bowels, and cure the amylaceous dyspepsia and intestinal indigestion.If you are suffering from dyspepsia, constipation, and, in fact, indigestion
of any kind, don't run the risk of getting appendicitis, but strike at the root of the trouble—the original cause

PUNCHERS READY

FIVE BOUTS ON TAP TONIGHT.

GOOD SLUGGING CARD OFFERED AT NAUD JUNCTION.

Jack Burns and Jim Flynn are to furnish the main event at Ten Rounds—Kid Ross and Frank Harris Down for the Semi-Final—First Battle at 8 o'clock.

Slam-bang, knock-down and drag-out business should be the feature of the weekly fight show at the Naud Junction pavilion tonight, when five bouts are to be staged. The card is presented by all kinds of pug, ranging from featherweights to the heavy, and on paper this promises a program that should please all tastes. The first bout will start promptly at 8 o'clock and the card may be finished by 10:30 o'clock.

The main event will be ten rounds between Jack Burns and Jim Flynn and those who want the "rough stuff" will surely find it here, for both men are aggressive, willing to mix, and always try to end their fights as quickly as possible. Both have shown here a number of times, and while many boys are confident of his ability to trim the big fellow, both men have trained several weeks for the bout and appear to be in good condition.

The semi-final of ten rounds will be between Frank Harris and Kid Ross and should be interesting, as both boys are willing. These boys will weigh about 130 pounds. Hobo Dougherty and Dan Cullen are six rounds 130 pounds are two other good ones who have shown well. Another six-round bout is scheduled between Al Rogers and Jimmy Brady at 121 pounds, while the curtain-raiser of four rounds will bring together West Warren and Jack George. The order of bouts is as follows:

West Warren and Jack George, four rounds, 125 pounds.
Al Rogers and Jimmy Brady, six rounds, 130 pounds.
Hobo Dougherty and Dan Cullen, six rounds, 130 pounds.
Frank Harris and Kid Ross, ten rounds, 130 pounds.

Jim Flynn and Jack Burns, ten rounds, heavyweights.

READY FOR BATTLE.

FRAYNE AND POWELL.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 23.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) Lew Powell and Johnny Frayne, both San Francisco lightweights, are ready for tomorrow night's twenty-round contest, which the fighters as well as the public are hoping will bring forth a boxer who will have won the right to challenge Battling Nelson for the title which the Haggewich lad has held so firmly since his defeat of Joe Gans.

Each man has come up from the amateur ranks in San Francisco. Curiously enough, it was on his last eastern trip, and as the manner in which he knocked out Young Corbett, that established Frayne, Powell, who has attained comparatively recent prominence, his last two fights having been won in a style that has heretofore been foreign to Lew and with the dash and punch that is being surprise to a man in the ring.

The absence of Frayne's price in the betting has knocked the support down to 10 to 1, and it is reported there is little money being handled. Eddie Smith will referee.

THREE KNOCKDOWNS.

THEN BROWN RALLIES.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

PORTLAND, Oct. 23.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) Johnny O'Keefe of Denver knocked down Chester Brown of San Francisco three times in the first round of their ten-round bout before the Rose City Athletic Club tonight.

It looked as though the fight would never go the distance, but Brown rallied, and while he bled freely from a cut over his eye, which had resulted from one of the knockdowns, he fought back strongly through the remaining rounds. No decision was given, but newspaper men agreed O'Keefe had the better of the fight.

Kid Sealer and Kid Harrison, two local youngsters, boxed ten rounds to a no-decision draw.

No interference was offered by the police, even when gore flowed, and losing fans' hopes are high that the lid is off to stay.

Rev. A. A. Morrison of Trinity Church was present as the representative of the Municipal League. He said at the conclusion of the bouts that he had seen nothing objectionable.

Joe Gans Refuses.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 23.—Harry Stone and Leach Cross, both of New York, boxed tonight fifteen gentle rounds before the Europa Athletic Club, but neither did any damage. Stone landed three blows for every one Cross sent home, and the latter was repeatedly hit by the large audience for his failure to fight. The referee, Joe Gans, called it a draw. At one time he stopped the pug to warn the men to fight.

New Pug Anxious.

"Fighting" Jack Root of Chicago is in this city and ready to meet any featherweight on the Coast. Danny Webster preferred. The new one is a featherweight and intends to remain such some months. He says he has met such good ones as Jimmy Walsh, Ed Delaney, Monte Alamo, Frankie Neil, and beat Benny Tanager, although the record of the latter does not contain Root's name.

Cameron Idle.

"Big Jim" Cameron is still looking for a match, but no one here cares to tackle him, apparently. It was suggested that he be given a chance at the winner of tonight's battle between Burns and Flynn, but Secretary Hancock of the Pacific Club says that neither Flynn nor Burns wants any of Cameron.

LATONIA RESULTS.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 23.—Right: Easy won the feature race, a handicap, at Latonia today. Lawrence P. Daley was second, while Hanbridge was third. Five and a half furlongs: Mr. Smarty won. Friend Virgil second, Gramercy third; time 1:12. Six furlongs: Congo won. Blue Lee second. Voting third; time 1:14.5. Five and a half furlongs: Berea Grande won. Howdy Hardy second, Galvaca third; time 1:06.4. Six furlongs: Right Easy won. Lawrence P. Daley second, Hanbridge third; time 1:13. One mile: Bonnie Bard won. Sally Preston second, Lady Esther third; time 1:42.5. Kokomo won. Rebel Queen second, Fleming third; time 1:15.

THE PRESIDENT.

direct for New Orleans, cutting out the stops in the hope that they may arrive at New Orleans with the President some time on Sunday.

President Taft took Gov. Noel of Mississippi and Gov. Sanders of Louisiana on board the Oleander last night after cutting away from the rest of the fleet, in order to keep his engagements at the down-river cities.

The President was entertained last night at dinner on board the steamer Quilley, by the Senators and Representatives composing the Congressional delegation to the waterways convention. He and Speaker Cannon again expressed their views on waterways improvement.

NOT YET CONVERTED.

The speaker is not yet converted to the President's idea of issuing bonds to carry approved projects to completion, and declared last night that he would not vote for any improvement project which did not call for a continuing contract, the work to be paid for from year to year, as the speaker has declared that although bonds have been authorized, the work on the Panama Canal up to this time has been paid for out of current funds in the treasury.

President Taft believes that when a waterways improvement has been determined upon after careful inquiry and investigation, it is necessary to issue the estimated cost in order that it may be carried through to completion at the earliest moment. In the past, river and harbor improvement has been largely controlled by political expediency, a big appropriation being made at one session of Congress and none at all at the next session, just before election time.

Speaker Cannon said he favored bonds when necessary in time of war or in peace to keep the public faith, but if Congress voted to satisfy every demand for bonds for highways, for reclamation and irrigation projects; for the drainage of swamp land, and for forest preservation, there would be another debt equal to that of the Civil War, now nearly wiped out.

DOUBT CANNON'S WORD.

"But I am going out of Congress some day," said the speaker. "No, no," shouted a number of his colleagues of the House, "we don't believe it."

"Oh, yes, I am," he replied, "and when I do there will be plenty left for you boys and there will be lots of business going on at the old place."

In his speech the President said, among other things: "I sincerely believe that we—all of us—if we don't go to the bottom, will derive most benefit from this trip. We shall all know when we get through the trip exactly how Uncle Joe stands with reference to this business of opening the river, even if we have to consult a few more remarks from St. Paul."

That I do not think it makes very much difference what each individual thinks with reference to the improvement of the Mississippi River; I must be the details of that improvement. I believe the fact that this expedition has been entered upon has put the public attention on this subject. Congress must take some action, and from the fact that Congress must act it seems a result will be reached."

GOVERNOR'S THREAT.

WINS HIM NEW PLACE.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

NEW ORLEANS, La., Oct. 23.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) At the meeting of the Progressive Union Waterways Executive Committee today, President Werlein announced that he had received a telegram from Gov. Sanders, saying that unless he was placed in the first carriage with President Taft he would not take part in the parade Saturday morning. It developed that the Governor had been placed with the Mexican Ambassador, a number of carriages removed from that bearing the distinguished guest.

At Memphis, where the tickets for the carriages were distributed to the Governor and the rest of the party, down the river, Gov. Sanders learned of the disposition made of him. It is assumed he felt that the dignity of his office made it his duty to protest. President Werlein said that Chief of the Secret Service, Wilkie, before leaving here, had forbidden any change in the order of the parade, or of the assignments to carriages which he had approved. Mr. Wilkie had also said that when the President landed, the President would be ready to go and that he would not wait more than ten minutes for the other boats to land, and for the Governor and others to take their positions in the parade.

Under the circumstances, Mr. Werlein said, it had been arranged that the President's side, Capt. Butte, Mayor Behrman and himself as president of the Progressive Union, should occupy the first carriage. After discussing Gov. Sanders' protest, the committee decided to override Chief Wilkie and place Gov. Sanders in the carriage with Mr. Taft.

SAND BAR HALTS.

PRESIDENT'S FLOTILLA.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.)

NATCHEZ (Miss.) Oct. 23.—The torpedo boat flotilla, the fleet preceding the Presidential fleet from St. Louis, reached Natchez at 11 o'clock, with the news that the Wilks is aground near Vicksburg, and the other boats of the fleet, at last report, were with the Wilks, endeavoring to assist her from the sand bar.

According to the officers of the Thornton, the Wilks struck the bar early in the afternoon, and is resting in an upright position, and apparently in no immediate danger.

Arrangements were made to have a tug go to the assistance of the Wilks.

PUTS A LIMIT ON.

NUMBER OF "SHAKES."

(ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.)

BATON ROUGE (La.) Oct. 23.—One of the results of a conference between United States secret service officers and the committee in charge of the Taft reception at Baton Rouge is the announcement that the number of "shake hands" with the President will be limited to fifty.

This led to the absorbing question today as to who will make up the fifty.

NEW SANTA FE DIRECTOR.

TOPEKA (Kan.) Oct. 23.—Thomas Cuyler of New York was elected a director of the Atchafalaya, Topeka & Santa Fe Railroad to succeed the late H. H. Rogers at the meeting of the stockholders today. Paul Morton of New York and Benjamin P. Cheney of Boston were re-elected to the directorate.

President Hupley said the condition of the company was highly satisfactory to the stockholders.

MEXICAN CHARGES LIBEL.

Pamphleteer on Trial for Attack on Newspaper Proprietor and Indirectly on President Diaz.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.)

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—On a charge of malicious libel spread by Rafael Reyes, E. Lindola, proprietor of the newspaper El Imparcial, of the City of Mexico, Carlo di Fornaro, caricaturist and newspaper man, was placed on trial in General Sessions Court today.

The action is based on statements made in a pamphlet entitled, "Diaz, Carr of Mexico."

Espindola was called as a witness and denied in detail the truth of the alleged libelous statements contained in the Fornaro article.

Espindola, while declaring his paper was friendly to the Diaz government, said it was not the principal government organ. His paper was subsidized by the government of Mexico, but not by President Diaz, he declared in answer to questions.

On cross examination, the witness was led to tell of his participation in three affairs of honor with proprietors of other newspapers, in one of which he was wounded, and in another of which he himself was wounded.

ARMY RECORDS BROKEN.

United States Soldiers Beat World at Machine Gun Firing and Wall Sealing.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.)

OMAHA (Neb.) Oct. 23.—Two world's army records, for fast machine-gun firing and wall sealing, were broken today by the Sixteenth Infantry, which is at target practice at Fort Crook.

The machine-gun platoon, under command of Lieut. Michaelis, made a record of 44.3 seconds against 15.1 seconds, its own former world's record made at Des Moines a month ago, for packing, unpacking, running 100 yards, firing and running back 100 yards.

The other record, for wall sealing, was made by the eight-man team of the same regiment, by running twenty-five yards, scaling a ten-foot wall and running fifteen yards beyond and firing.

The record was reduced from 36 to 15 seconds.

EAST TO MEET WEST.

Great Interest Shown in Football Games Between Michigan and Syracuse Eleven.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.)

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—Great interest is being shown in eastern colleges in the first of the East-western football games which will be played next Saturday when the Syracuse eleven goes to Ann Arbor and when the coaching methods of Tad Jones will be pitted against those of Yost of the Michigan team.

Heretofore the East has had all the better of the West in sectional football matches. During the year which Michigan ran up such enormous scores against its western adversaries, there was no match with the East and therefore no comparison could be made.

Last year Chicago, the strongest team in the West, played a 6-to-6 tie with Cornell and Cornell was several places removed from the front rank of the eastern elevens. Carlisle was beaten by Minnesota 11 to 6, but Michigan had been put away handsily by Chicago.

Carlisle beat three western teams—St. Louis, Nebraska and Denver; Pennsylvania smothered Michigan 13 to 0, and Syracuse also stomped Michigan. As Michigan has been announced as the strongest-looking western team this season, western fans are eagerly awaiting the result of Saturday's game.

ST. LOUIS BIDS HIGH.

Big Sum in Cash Prizes Offered—Also Guarantees Superior Setting for Aviation Contest.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.)

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—A. B. Lambert, the St. Louis aeronaut, who made the speed record for balloons from this city to Charleston, S. C., has arrived here with the offer of the Aero Club of St. Louis, which he represents, to make St. Louis the place for the international aeroplane meeting to be held in this country next year.

"As an inducement," said Mr. Lambert, "we are prepared to offer $100,000 in cash prizes, and we will guarantee to hold the contests in as fine a setting as that at the recent aviation meet at Rheims."

Cincinnati, Indianapolis and Washington have been talking as if they wanted to get the event, but none of them can compare in advantages with us. The weather that we can offer cannot be beaten. Then we have had experience with two great balloon races, one an international affair and one aeroplane exhibition.

"We hope, by offering a cash prize of $20,000 to hold an aeroplane race on a given day and at a given hour without regard to the condition of the weather."

"Besides, we would offer a prize of $20,000 for a speed contest, $15,000 for a height contest, and $25,000 for a contest which would stay up longest."

Tire Bursts; Man Killed. DALLAS (Tex.) Oct. 23.—While speeding a practice mile, Eugene J. Marsh, an amateur, was thrown from his motorcycle and instantly killed at State Fair grounds race course today. Marsh was riding fifty miles an hour when a tire burst.

DECLARES MACHINES OF A FEATHER WORK TOGETHER.

Fusion Candidate in Philadelphia Says He Has Evidence of Alliance Between Republican Bosses in the Quaker City and the Tammany Leaders—Plan to Use Same "Floaters" at Coming Elections.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 28.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) Under the leadership of D. Clarence Gibson, Independence candidate for mayor, a fusion movement
of citizens working to overthrow the Republican machine came upon evidence of a working alliance between Philadelphia Republican bosses and Tammany bosses in New York. Gibson said today.

"The Republican gang in this city and Tammany in New York are organizations of closely similar character. Their aims and their methods are practically identical, and they are in harmony with each other, especially on election day.

"An agent of the Philadelphia gang
in New York, consulting with Tammany agents for the employment of fraudulent voters in the two cities,
plan to do the same thing in Philadelphia. The plan is to do it in the morning, and then hurried over to New York to see the results.

"I make no difference that the bosses of one city operate under the name of Democracy and those of the other as Republicans. They both have the same ends. Both desire the control. Both are ready to oppose in harmony for mutual benefit and protection," said Gibbons.

"A high police official in Philadelphia is an intimate friend of 'Boss' Sullivan. The smaller fry like him have their alliance and friendship."

AFTER CASH.
WALDEN ESTATE
LIKE DERELICT.
ADMINISTRATOR REJECTS BILLS
FOR FORMER FRIENDS OF DEAD
MAN WHO BASE CLAIMS FOR LARGE
Sums on Ante-Mortem Premises.
Wants to State.

Walden, who died yesterday, was represented by C. G. Sawyer, who had as night watchman in the neighborhood of Ingham and Valentine streets, where, for many years,
Walden lived in a small cottage.
His petition Sawyer asks for $300.
He alleges he due him in payment for his services as manager of Walden's affairs. He gives a detailed account of the months during which he represented Mrs. Walden's estate for the modest sum of $100 month. He also demands $50 for services, $5 in cash loaned to Walden and $45 for her funeral expenses. He asks that Mrs.
Walden promised he would be "looked after" at the time of her death and services well repaid.

Walden's sister, Mrs. Kate M.
Walden, who claims $35,000 worth of the estate, explains why they neglected to make petitions until the last moment.

Administrator Bryson has rejected these claims after careful consideration. There is only one petition which he will consider in connection with the disposition of the estate, that is a mortgage for $15,000
property at First and Main streets, held by a Los Angeles bank.
Other claimants will have to fight
their contentions in the courts.
Walden secured the property,
valued at $80,000, at the time
of her husband, who died several years ago, left her without any share of the Walden estate.
Walden, who took her good without any brass hand trimming, preferring to live in the same house she had so long known property at the southeast corner of First and Main streets brought income great enough to supply needs of the woman, while the continued to increase in value.
At the time of Mrs. Walden's death in 1908, the Main-street property, valued at $70,000, was valued at $100,000.
Walden to the Walden estate have been and unless they appear next twelve hours they will be sold to the public. The property will be sold by the Public Administrator
as the courts adjust the claims and the proceeds will be turned over to the estate.

BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.
ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 28.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) The forcible Russification of Finland is being pushed more vigorously than ever, and it is expected that by a simple imperial deree the autonomous parliamentary government will be brought under the rule of Premier Stolypin. The territory of the duchy will be divided, and the richest and most populous province, that of Viborg, will be annexed to the empire under the pretext of preserving public order.

More than 4,000 Cossacks and other troops have been poured into the province, and those who know what Russian military occupation has meant in Poland, Georgia and the Baltic States foresee the ruin of the country. Very few of the enlightened and independent persons in Russia dare express their sympathy with Finland.
The majority even of educated Russians know little of the rights of the people of the country of barren granite rocks,
where arable land is literally created by the industry of the peasants. It is now inhabited by a prosperous agricultural and industrial population,
which is one of the most enlightened
in Europe.

After Using Cardui, the Woman's Tonic Mrs. Hazel Says She Renewed Her Youth.

Los Angeles, Calif.—"As I was passing through the trying period, change of life," writes Mrs. J. F. Hazel of 1224 Hobson st., "I was so sick at times that I could not stand on my feet for four or five days at a time. I tried three different doctors, but none of them did me any good. I read in your Almanac about Cardui and got a bottle, which brought relief at once, and after using 2 bottles I was entirely cured."

"I am nearly 48 years old and feel very well. My complexion is as clear as when I was 25, and I now do all my own housework. I will always speak a good word for Cardui."

Cardui is a strength-building, tonic medicine for women. It has been found to relieve pain and distress, caused by womanly trouble, and is an excellent medicine to have on hand at all times.

Try Cardui. You will appreciate its tonic, building effect on the system, as well as its quality of preventing or relieving pain, at trying times.

Cardui is for sale at all drug-gists.

REAL DEMONSTRATION.

SUCCESS IN COTTON MEANS VAST WEALTH IN PROSPECT.
Better Than a Bale to the Acre Is the Proven Product of American Nile Country.

BETTER than a bale to the acre is the proven cotton product of the Imperial Valley. One thousand acres are being picked this season and many fields are yielding an even bale to the first picking, with two more pickings to come.
Half a bale in the two later pickings is a low estimate. And this result has been achieved in many cases by farmers who never saw a cotton field before; in others by planters who had to learn how to irrigate and control the growth of the plant under conditions wholly new to them.
It is not probable that the best possible results have been obtained this year, and therefore it is not extravagant to expect a yield of two bales to the acre when the farmers learn how to grow cotton.
The soil and the climate of the desert of the Colorado, which includes Imperial Valley, the delta below the Mexican line and parts of Arizona, are better suited to the cotton plant than are the conditions in any other region except the valley of the Nile. In no other part of the United States has the Egyptian variety of cotton been grown with any success, but it grows here even better than in its home.
Only small areas of Egyptian cotton were planted this year by way of experiment, and none has been ginned yet, but the remarkable growth of the plants and the great number of bolls to the stock are assurances of satisfactory results of the experiment. It is probable that larger areas will be planted next year and that eventually the more valuable Egyptian variety will be grown almost exclusively in the desert region.
It is difficult to induce a Texan to consider Egypt a cotton now because of the failure of experiments in the South, where the bolls do not retain the locks well. The southerners know that they could do with upland cotton and they would not take chances with any other variety for their first crop.
SKEPTICS CONCEDE FACT.
It is now conceded by the most skeptical that a new industry of vast importance to Southern California has been established and that the economic problem of Imperial Valley has been solved. The last doubter has been convinced, and the worst and most cantankerous knocker is now the most extravagant of cotton "boosters."
There are 500,000 acres in Imperial Valley and at least 250,000 acres in the delta below the boundary that can be irrigated and cultivated. Any considerable part of this area devoted to growing cotton would supply raw material for many large mills, employing thousands of persons and adding enormously to the wealth and commercial importance of Southern California. The cotton mill at Oakland works up about 15,000 bales of cotton in a year and offers to take 10,000 bales of the valley product. The Oakland mill makes only special fabrics and does not use as much lint as does a cloth mill.
MEANS MANUFACTURING.
Cotton means to Los Angeles and San Diego opportunity to become great manufacturing cities and commercial ports. They have all the advantages claimed for St. Louis by the Star of that city in a recent editorial urging the establishment of a cotton mill, and in one important particular they are more advantageously located. The St. Louis "No place is better located for marketing the product of cotton mills in this country, and certainly none will be better located for supplying foreign markets when St. Louis shall have been made a seaport by the opening of the Panama Canal and the construction of a deep-water channel to the gulf. . . . Apparently no city not located in the very midst of cotton fields has any advantage over St. Louis in securing the raw material at low transportation cost. None has any advantage, and few equal advantages, in the matter of marketing goods. As to cost of manufacture there should be no place better located. Coal, oil, gas and water power for electricity exist in exhaustless quantities on all sides. There seems to be no reason why St. Louis could not become a great cotton manufacturing center.

All of which is even more applicable to San Diego and Los Angeles than to St. Louis. The coast ports need not wait for canals and river improvements to place them in touch with the markets of Central and South America and the Orient. They may obtain raw cotton so conveniently that they inspired the editor of the Press with some of their enthusiasm and the paper also began talking cotton. In February, 1908, a Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce excursion was entertained in El Centro, and Ira Aten and Allen Kelly covered the operation stage with cotton stocks loaded with opened bolls, to show not only to the visitors but the people of the valley that the desert was the ideal cotton-growing country.
A placard told the Angelenos that they were in "California Dixie." A month later another excursion was entertained, and Mr. Kelly, as local (Continued on Eighth Page.)

TRUST BUILDING SOLD; NEARLY HALF-MILLION.
THE largest real estate deal of the year in local business property was consummated yesterday, when the Los Angeles Trust Company transferred to Valentine Peyton of this city the Trust building at the northeast corner of Spring and Second streets. The sale was made through the agency of W. I. Hollingsworth. The consideration involved was approximately $450,000.
The structure is of stone and brick construction and of ornate treatment. It is seven stories high and occupies 80 feet on Spring by 147 feet to a twenty-foot alley on East Second. It was built by the Los Angeles Trust Company five years ago at a cost of about $250,000.
The block is modern in every way and contains 150 offices. The line realized is about $23,000 net a year. Mr. Peyton is acquiring the property as a permanent investment.
The Los Angeles Trust Company will vacate the building about January 1, at which time this institution is to combine with the Metropolitan Bank and Trust Company under the name of the Los Angeles Trust and Savings Bank. The larger banking house resulting from this important union will occupy the ground floor of the Central building, pending the erection of the proposed permanent structure at the northwest corner of Spring and Sixth streets.

PURR-AND-FUR MISSING.
Three-Hundred Police Officers Seek Tom Cat with No Known Soul Mates.
If you own a striped Tom cat and do not want him to experience the ignominy of a trip to the Police Station, you would better keep him locked up for the next few days. More than 300 argus-eyed minions of the law "gum shoe workers" have instructions to catch "a large, short haired, tiger cat weighing about thirteen pounds," "vigilant blue coat will not hesitate in making the punch if they set eyes on the alley marauder of the genus feline, for a reward is offered."
One of the large display "stories" of the day in a fearless and enterprising journal, the Daily Bulletin, published by Editor Fendegast, for the Chief of Police, relates the sad tale of Mr. Thomas Cat.
The animal is the property of Mrs. John G. Todd, No. 1822 Arapahoe street. It appears that Thomas is a model cat who does not flirt with strange Tabbies or go out of his way to devour canaries, and he seems to have endeared himself to the Todd family by his affable manners and his basso-profundo purr.
Local sleuths declare that Thomas will undoubtedly be recovered as he had no financial difficulties and no known soul mates to lead him into disgrace, or cause him to flee the country. It is believed that he is suffering from some temporary mental aberration, which deprives him of the memory of his home.

LETTER ENDS LIFE CHAPTER.
Missing Deputy Sheriff Is Heard from.
Writes to Wife from North About a "Ghost."
Fear Drives Him Forth Into World Alone.
Rather than face a calamity that threatened him, according to his own explanation, Willard W. Dennis, assistant book-keeper in the civil department of the Sheriff's office, and independent candidate for the Board of Education, hurriedly left Los Angeles Saturday night on the 11:30 o'clock train, for the North.
All fears for the safety of the missing officer were dispelled yesterday morning when Dr. Dennis received a letter from her wandering spouse, dated at Roseville Junction, twenty-one miles north of Sacramento. In it he informed her that he was well and speeding away with no intention of returning, while he threw out delicate hints about a ghost that had come to haunt him because of an error of his youth.
He has with him at the present time, a silver deputy sheriff's badge, which fellow-officers think he might have been considerate enough to have turned into the office before making his sudden departure.
Every step in the disappearance of Dennis has only added mystery, and the letter of yesterday hints at something that none of his friends seem able to understand. He writes:
"This money I received for my Spring Tire stock, and all other stock I ordered, money order $3,775, $100 money order $3,575, $100. Dennis W. Dennis. I suppose by this time that you know the reason of my not returning, an error of mine has come back to walk this life, like the worst and I am going away maybe never to return. It would be well to keep my old line insurance for you cannot tell when you may draw it. I wanted to tell you over the phone Saturday night and could not find the courage, however I will think of the years we passed as husband and wife as the happiest of my life. Don't forget to draw my salary the first of the month. Enclosed find order on Auditor Welch. Goodbye and may God Bless and Keep you—Willard."
TERRIFIED BY GHOSTS.
The letter was mailed at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon. Dennis was evidently speeding northward, fleeing from some terror that he had left behind. The letter was accompanied by two money orders, and the order on Auditor Welch.
What was the error that caused Dennis to desert his family, his position, and his ambitions, and rush in panic from those who had known and loved him?
Did the error that came back to walk this life with him like a ghost wear skirts?
These are questions that are bothering his friends. They liked Dennis and they wonder why he took French leave and sent back a note that hinted of something terrible about to happen to him.
Dennis had apparently been a thoroughly honest and honorable man. He came to Los Angeles more than fifteen years ago from Lake City, Ariz. He was born in Peoria, Ill., and has relatives there now. From Peoria he went to Salt Lake and lived there until 22 years ago.
His life in Los Angeles had been without a fault, according to those who knew him intimately. He had conducted a fruit store in Avalon, a clothing store and a stock brokers' establishment in Los Angeles, and when Sheriff Hamm was elected, Dennis was given a good position in the civil department at $25 a week.
LIFE HERE CLEAN.
Nothing can be found in his life in Los Angeles to have caused him to fear. He was married in 1893 to Mrs. Mary Donaldson, whose first husband had been drowned several years prior (Continued on Third Page.)

CARMINE SPILL.
LAWYER LOSES BLOOD IN FIGHT.
ENGAGES IN STRUGGLE IN OFFICE BUILDING.
Trouble of Long Standing Between Real Estate Man and Attorney Results in Encounter in Which the One Seemingly the Aggressor Loses Honors.
A hand-to-hand fight between a doughty real-estate man and a lawyer, who had been accused of sharp practice by the former, started the occupants of the second floor of the Columbia Trust building yesterday morning.
C. E. Thomson, who occupies the suite of offices on the West Third street side, was "visited" by Attorney C. N. Gary, ostensible owner of a tract near Dominguez station. The latter entered the office in a hasty manner, according to witnesses, and opened the conversation by accusing Thomson of inspiring an article which appeared in The Times last week, relative to Gary's methods of doing business.
After some words, it appears, Gary began the fight by making a pass at Thomson. The latter is a middle-aged man of benign appearance and wears spectacles. But he admits he is of Scotch-Irish parentage and says he has taken boxing lessons since boyhood.
Thomson parried the other's blow and mildly suggested that it was unnecessary for men of their age to engage in fist fights. Gary apparently took this remark for a signal of surrender, but the case never came to trial.
"This time, Thomson admits, he knocked the other down. "Mr. Gary rose and came at me like a wild bull," said he, in narrating the history of the battle. "I warded off his blows and landed him on the floor. I tried not to strike too hard, for I remembered Gary carries two bullets in his body."
Finally Gary begged for mercy after he had been given a number of stinging blows.
There were several witnesses of the affray. All stated that Gary was the aggressor and that Thomson was very patient with his visitor until the latter began the attack.
The trouble is of long standing. A relative of Thomson's said he had been defrauded by Gary in a land deal, and was bent on to recover what was paid on a lot.
Gary was arrested in this city upon a charge of passing a fictitious check, but the case never came to trial. According to those who invested in his real-estate schemes, Gary has swindled many. Complaint was made to the District Attorney, but it was held that the deals did not constitute a criminal offense, though they were of a decidedly shady character.

MINES AND MINING.
ABANDON METAL FOR PETROLEUM.

CLARK COPPER COMPANY TO BE MOVED MONDAY.
Control is acquired by Fielding Silson and George Winter for Numismatic. The company has been sold for $180,000 in cash. The company has been sold for $180,000 in cash. The company has been sold for $180,000 in cash.

Control of the Clark Copper Company has just been acquired by Fielding J. Silson and George P. Winter, late of Kansas City, now an Angeleno, who bought a seat yesterday on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange, the two acting in behalf of numerous stockholders. They have obtained proceeds and options that will place them in command at the annual meeting on Monday, when new directors will be chosen, with the probable exception of W. E. Wadsworth, of the present board, who will probably be chosen, as he is in sympathy with the new policy.

The company will be reorganized with a new name and abandon metal mining for several promising properties are under consideration. The company has $18,000 in its treasury in cash, and $45,000 shares, all of which are available for development. There are some 350 stockholders, many of them having small amounts, to whom the reorganization means a good deal.

Chamber of Mines.
The Chamber of Mines has issued a certificate to the Mono Mining and Milling Company, working six unpatented claims at the western base of the White Mountains, Plute district, Mono county, Cal., about eleven miles by wagon road north of the town of Inyo, and five north of the southern Inyo. The certificate is a preliminary one, and is subject to a full survey of the property. About 1500 feet of development has exposed the vein quite generally throughout the property. The certificate covers location, title, personnel of management and actual development, nothing being said, under the Chamber's rules, as to value, extent of ore bodies, character of ore, methods of treatment or any technical matters.

The Santa Fe, El Paso and Southern, and Tonopah and Goldfield railroads, and their next tariffs will provide free transportation for its exhibition ore, a concession granted by practically all southwestern railroads. The chamber is also informed that three boxes of specimens, at least one sample from each of the Nevada districts, are ready to be shipped from Goldfield, according to the agreement made with Vice-President King and Secretary Stindell during the Mining Congress. The selections were made by John H. Tate, official classifier of the exhibit made at the Mineral Palace convention.

The chamber has obtained from the United States Land Office a copy of the order withdrawing oil lands from entry and a full list of the same for the information of those interested. George N. Nolan has resigned as field secretary to accept a position with Procter & Co. in forming an oil syndicate.

MAJ. T. J. WHLAN has been named delegate from the chamber to the National Farm Land Congress at Chicago November 16 to 20.

BIG ARIZONA SALE.
SADDLE MOUNTAIN PROPERTY.
SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.
PHOENIX (Ariz.) Oct. 28.—Another important chapter was written yesterday in the history of the wonderful development that is coming to the mines of the Gila Valley, adding to the assurance felt by Arizona mining men that at least the equal of the Blaine field will soon be known in the copper district around Winkelman, Kelvin, Ray and Troy. Yesterday a deal was completed in Phoenix, where by the property of the Saddle Mountain Mining Company passed to the control of the Development Company of America, represented here by its president, Frank M. Murphy of Prescott, its secretary, Victor L. Mason of New York, and by E. E. Gage and W. F. Rasmussen of Tombstone, O. O. Longacre of Prescott and Meade Geodole of Saeco. The Development Company of America, through a subsidiary, the Saddle Mountain Mining Company, owns and operates the Consolidated Mines at Tombstone, the Imperial property at Silver Bell, with its copper smelter at Saeco, the Congress mine at Congress and the Poland and several other important properties in Yavapai county, near Prescott. The company has heavy capitalization, with ample funds available for its enterprise, and is fortunate in having a technical and executive staff with the broadest knowledge of southwestern mining conditions.

To handle the acquired property has been organized the Gila Sulphide Copper Company, with capitalization of $1,200,000. A part of this stock was given to the stockholders in the old company, the exact basis of exchange not being announced. About 1,200,000 shares are outstanding. The Murphy interests have agreed to pay the bonded debt, amounting to something less than $1,000,000, mainly due W. O. Bushnell of New Haven, Ct. Of this, 75 per cent. is to be paid in forty-five days, and the balance in sixty days thereafter. For necessary development, $50,000 is to be provided at once. According to President Murphy, "We hope to be ready, as soon as the Phoenix and Eastern Railroad has been completed to a point opposite the property, to ship ore by trainloads to the smelter at Saeco, until such time as the development of the Saddle Mountain property and of the London-Arizona, in which the Development company has acquired a large share, will warrant a smelter on the ground."

line, but one originally built by Frank Murphy for the Santa Fe system. Christmas, though properly included within the term Final count, is a mining field, really is in the southernmost point of Gila county. It lies only a short distance from the Gila River, up which the Southern Pacific is extending on an extension of the Phoenix and Eastern to a connection with the Gila Valley, Globe and Northern road at San Carlos, thus adding an eastern exit for the region. The grade is complete to a point opposite Christmas, and it would be a matter of only a couple of weeks to place the rails.

The Saddle Mountain property has lain idle for two years past. In 1907 it was credited with a copper production of 260,000 pounds, handled as matte at the Humboldt smelter, below Prescott. Near the mine is a water jacket furnace, without converter equipment, which was run intermittently for several years on selected ore, but with poor returns. When the management closed down, it was understood that many things must be done before profit could be secured, including the securing of railroad transportation, a more economical system of handling the ore, a concentrator and modern smelter equipment. Of the mine itself there has never been doubt, and it is classed as one of the best in Arizona with immense bodies of low-grade sulphide ore, occasionally pocketed with slopes from which even 20 per cent. ore has been taken in considerable quantity. A few years ago, Christmas was one of the most prosperous of Arizona mining camps, and there even existed an assurance that its importance would soon return in much greater degree than ever before known.

Mr. Murphy was quizzed while here concerning the plans of his Imperial company for extending the Silver Bell-Road Railroad into Mexico, cutting a large ledge or iron pryer, and a steep hill in such shape that the ore can readily be reached by tunneling. The lowest of several tunnels is 1700 feet long, cutting the shaft at about 600 feet of depth. On this level, for many years, an extraordinary quantity of free gold was struck, a geological freak that has never known duplication in the Southwest. The property has been in litigation for many years, though worked in desultory fashion. It is expected to take place among the principal gold producers of the Territory.

CHARLATAN.
A BOARD BILL A REVOLUTIONIST.
DE LARA NOT WANTED IN HIS NATIVE LAND.

Unless it be for cheating his former landlady, a widow, out of money, or for his Board and Lodging—Prisoner is Released Under Surety Bonds.

L. Gutierrez De Lara, the Mexican revolutionist, who is awaiting a disposition of his case by the Department of Commerce and Labor, was released under $3000 bonds yesterday afternoon. C. Reynolds and Albert Sawyer qualified as sureties.

While there is no room to doubt that the conceited young Mexican has uttered fulminations against his government, and has advised his ignorant followers to commit deeds of violence, De Lara is regarded as belonging to the jackal type of revolutionist; an alder and abettor of the reds who are willing to risk their lives in carrying out some plot of the Junta.

He has posed here as an educated Mexican of fine family who holds "advanced" views on sociological questions. But in Phoenix and Bisbee, Ariz., he is known as a braggart and arrogant coward. He attempted to make an anti-Diaz speech at the celebration of Mexican independence held in Phoenix September 16, but was silenced by Theodore Arce, chairman of the meeting.

Residents of Cananea recall his presence in that town on the occasion of the strike, which was fomented by the labor unionists and revolutionists. He took some part in the demonstration, but did not leave there because of that, but it is alleged, on account of a board bill he owed a poor widow.

Americans living in Cananea, have investigated his professed fear of getting foot on Mexican soil and unpleasant meeting. He was alone when he left Los Angeles, and it is believed, both from the circumstances and from the mysteriously worded letter of the missing man, that it was to avoid trouble of some kind that Dennis ran away.

In support of the theory that Dennis planned his departure almost on the instant, his friends show that he recently joined a private law class, and was spending all his spare time in furthering his education. Thursday he bought $20 worth of campaign cards, a rather unusual proceeding if a man intended to take a long trip and needed every cent he could get.

DENNIS HEARD FROM.

to that date, while trying to rescue a girl from the ocean, near the Santa Monica wharf.

His married life had apparently been very happy. His letter of yesterday, written in the office, was a letter of sorrow, showing that he had the highest regard and love for his little family. His accounts were clean, his prospects good, and his bank account worthy of consideration. His family ties were all that could be asked for, his health was good, as were his spirits, and there was absolutely nothing that could have caused him to run away, unless, as has been suggested by some of his acquaintances, it might have been a woman that figured somewhere in his former life.

His mother knows of no trouble of this or any other kind. She stated yesterday that she had never known of anything that might have caused her son either to fear or worry.

STRANGE CHANGE.
The change came over Dennis Friday afternoon. He had been in the habit of telling his wife of all his little transactions. He sold 2000 shares of stock Friday morning and received $400 for it. He had been in the habit of telling his wife of all his little transactions. He sold 2000 shares of stock Friday morning and received $400 for it.

Did he really come between the time of leaving the office and the time of arriving home that evening the mere sight of whom caused his carefully built happiness to come tumbling down about his ears and his brain to stagger and reel with fear?

Whatever happened, caused him to abandon his stock business. He did not report the sale to his wife, but kept the money, Saturday morning, and went to San Pedro and stayed there until 10 o'clock. Then he dropped his keys and notebook near the docks, in order to suggest the possibility of murder and hurried back to a car. He arrived in Los Angeles at 11 o'clock, and went directly to the Arcade department. There he telephoned to his wife, and then boarded the 11:30 train for the north.

Compulsion of Dennis feel sure that the man's determination to leave Los Angeles resulted from some sudden change of heart, and that he was not a pleasant meeting. He was alone when he left Los Angeles, and it is believed, both from the circumstances and from the mysteriously worded letter of the missing man, that it was to avoid trouble of some kind that Dennis ran away.

In support of the theory that Dennis planned his departure almost on the instant, his friends show that he recently joined a private law class, and was spending all his spare time in furthering his education. Thursday he bought $20 worth of campaign cards, a rather unusual proceeding if a man intended to take a long trip and needed every cent he could get.

planned his departure almost on the instant, his friends show that he recently joined a private law class, and was spending all his spare time in furthering his education. Thursday he bought $20 worth of campaign cards, a rather unusual proceeding if a man intended to take a long trip and needed every cent he could get.

In his letter Dennis says: "I suppose by this time, you know the reason of my not returning."

The officers who have been working on the case state that Dennis evidently imagined that the calamity would fall as soon as his departure became known. This leads them to believe that Dennis feared some one would tell something, and that is about as far as they can get.

Also his statement: "An error of mine has come back to walk this life like the ghost," suggests that something from his life before his marriage had suddenly loomed up before him.

His mother, wife and brother state that they knew absolutely nothing about the cause of his leaving. When Under Sheriff Brain asked Mrs. Dennis yesterday whether or not she desired him to send an officer after her husband, she replied: "No, I will never bother him."

When asked regarding the mysterious error mentioned in the letter, Mrs. Dennis replied that she knew nothing whatever about it, and that the words of the letter explained nothing more to her than they would to any outsider.

So far as the Sheriff's office is concerned, the Dennis affair has been dropped. Many of the officers there, while expressing sorrow at the predicament, feel that he is entitled to little or no sympathy because of his unusual manner of leaving. Knowing as he did that the men he had worked with would take any chance, no matter how desperate, to recover his body or avenge his death.

"DOWN WITH THE GERMS."
If you could observe the extreme care with which the modern surgeon cleanses hands and instruments before an operation, you would be impressed with the danger of germs and the importance of absolute cleanliness in its relation to health.

The slogan of modern medical science is "Away with the germs." Germs thrive and multiply wherever they can find a lodging place in grease or dirt, but where things are scrupulously clean germs find it hard to live. The easiest and surest way to keep things clean lies in the use of Gold Dust washing powder. Gold Dust goes deep after dirt and routs out every germ and hidden impurity. It is the sanitary cleanser.

THE DIVORCE RUSH.

The flood of divorces in the courts of Los Angeles county is still challenging the attention of those interested in the public welfare, and the question is daily propounded: "What is the remedy?" For any one who is familiar with the proceedings of our divorce courts, and is in daily touch with the tragedies of life as they are presented on the witness stand in Judge James's department, the query is one not easy to answer. Yet there are some reasons why the number of divorces is increasing every day, and why it was possible for the department set apart for the determination of divorce cases to break all records on Wednesday by granting nineteen interlocutory decrees.

And the one dominant feature in all these cases was that under the laws of California every plaintiff was entitled to the relief of the courts. All of the causes for a legal separation under the statutes of this State were embraced in the several hearings, and in every case there was a strict compliance with the letter and the spirit of the law. So there was nothing for the court to do but to grant the decrees.

First, perhaps, to be reckoned with in the list of reasons contributing to the large number of divorces is the fact that neither of the parties to these actions appears to have appreciated the responsibilities that marriage brings to all who invoke its beneficent reign. There was scant conception of the solemnity of the ceremony, and a total lack of consideration whether the contracting parties were suited to each other. There was in most of these cases no physical nor mental preparation for the assumption of the marriage relation, and, above all, there is to be reckoned with the innate wickedness of men and women who care nothing for the proprieties, assuming new duties and ties as one would don a new garment with the change of the seasons, and ready to doff them as quickly.

The laws of California as well as the statutes of other States, relating to matrimony, are most liberal. Any man or woman who has reached the legal age and is not afflicted with a mental disease may wed and become the parents of children. It may seem that these laws are too lax. Not a day passes at the office of the County Clerk in this city but couples appear for marriage licenses whose age and looks suggest a trip to the kindergarten rather than to the marriage altar. Yet they are of legal age, or if not they have the consent of their parents, and there is nothing to do but give them the license to marry.

It would be perhaps impossible to deny licenses to such people; but a great chance is taken and the prospects are that within a short time these people will be up in the courts with uncontested cases. Day after day furnishes instances where in it would seem that some officer of the law should have interfered and forbidden the banns. An ounce of prevention is the one thing useful, but to apply it is not so easy. Begin before marriage to prevent divorces—there is the key to the solution of the problem.

With a view to minimizing the number of divorces granted in Los Angeles county, Judge Houser has promulgated a new set of rules, to take effect in his court next Monday. The most important reform he proposes is with the testimony people look up in the defendants must be taken before a decree is granted. The only effect of this order will be to delay the granting of decrees. The causes leading to divorces will still obtain and the dockets will be clogged with that sort of litigation. In but few default cases do the defendants care to be heard; in the most instances they cannot even be located; they have not been heard from in years, no one knows where they are. The new order will result in postponing, but there is no likelihood that it will contribute in the end to the hoped-for diminution of divorce actions.

If there were more charity and forbearance in the world; if husband and wife looked at each other with a kindly eye upon the failings of each other; if there was an appreciation of the sacred ceremony; if the husband was always a helpmate to his wife, and the wife held up the hands of the husband; in a word, if people in this age and generation fulfilled the law and obligations assumed, there would be no need of divorce laws. But to secure this glorious fulfillment it would be necessary for humanity to be born again. Meanwhile the community and the lawmakers must wrestle with the divorce evil as best they may. Men and women are but human, after all, and exceedingly human at that.

WALSH'S FATE?

John R. Walsh has made a coup which may gull him out of the slough of despond in which he has been floundering for two or three years. He has sold his railroad property, as reported, to J. Pierpont Morgan for about $27,000,000. If the report is confirmed the deal will give Walsh enough to pay all his indebtedness, return to the depositors in his bank 100 cents on the dollar, and leave ample means for his family to live on in comfort for the rest of their lives. What effect it will have upon the Department of Justice in the United States government is to be determined afterward. The authorities are keeping a closer watch upon their prisoner than before, lest, getting hold of so large a sum of money, he may escape from the country.

John R. Walsh will not run away with the money and leave his creditors in the lurch, watched and unwatched. The government probably will not condone the banker's offenses under any circumstances, but we think it will be lenient toward him. We think this because, while breaking the laws made to safeguard the funds of depositors in banks, few believe that John R. Walsh ever intended to be a deliberate defaulter.

The man's career is spectacular almost beyond the records even in the United States. He has shown an ability that would compare favorably with that of any of the great financiers of our day. John R. Walsh came to the United States with his parents who emigrated from Ireland when he was a mere child. They settled in Chicago and the boy's first enterprise was in selling newspapers on the streets. The monopolistic faculty developed in him almost from his infancy. He "preempted" about the best street crossing in the city of Chicago, and, "licking" every rival who attempted to sell a paper on his territory, he maintained his monopoly against all comers. Frequenting small theaters, he noticed that money was to be made in selling candy and soft drinks to the patrons of the cheap theaters. To see with young Walsh was to act. In the course of a few months he had secured a monopoly of this little business in nearly every theater in Chicago. He hired other boys to distribute his wares and got a rake-off from them all. In these early days he proclaimed his ambition to be a banker and a millionaire.

In due time, from the savings from selling papers on the street corner and candy in the theaters he went up step by step until he did open a little bank. The small concern became a great one. He had under the same roof a national commercial bank, a savings bank and a trust company. He was a good banker, but in a moment of inebriety he loaned a large sum of money on some quarry property in Illinois which turned out to be a failure. The bank was forced to take it over as the only asset to be had for the loan made upon it. To make the quarry profitable required the construction of a railroad, and so Walsh plunged from one enterprise to another, putting out with a lavish hand good money after bad in hopes of making all good. Troublesome times fell upon the financial world and Walsh took depositors' money out of his banks to carry out his schemes upon the side. He was able to conceal his illegal methods from the bank examiners by having his three institutions under one roof, practically in one room. When the national bank examiner came in money was taken out of one of the institutions acting under a State charter, and when the State examiner came in the national bank loaned funds to make up the deficit on the other side of the floor. He quarreled with one of his subordinates, who, after being discharged, was made a bank examiner; and he, knowing Walsh's methods of doing business, made a combination with the other bank examiner. The two walked into Walsh's triple institution one morning, and it not being possible to shift the funds with sufficient promptness, the deficit was uncovered.

The United States authorities will not let slip through their fingers easily a man who has been guilty of breaking the banking laws. Walsh will probably be pursued by the Department of Justice and made to suffer the penalties of his tampering with the deposits of the banks.

WHAT A BRITISHER LEARNED.

The London Statist is among the best informed of all European journals upon any subject affecting industries, commerce or finance. It serves interests centering in London which make it not only possible, but necessary, for the journal to be as frank in its statements as it is exact in its knowledge. Recently the editor of the paper, George Paish, spent a considerable time in America making a personal study of conditions. His letters to his London paper have been as enthusiastic in the optimistic views expressed of our country and its affairs as any American paper's would be likely to be.

In a recent letter from New York to the Statist the editor of that paper glances at the opinions usually expressed in Europe as to conditions in America. He gives his own countrymen and other Europeans credit for being entirely honest in their views. It may be so of the individuals, but we have long thought on this side of the water that there were influences purposely at work and indefatigable in their efforts to prevent Europeans from ascertaining correct views concerning industrial affairs in America. The Statist sets before itself the task of correcting the misapprehensions, whether they are honest or simulated. Just now there is a strong disposition on the part of Europeans, more particularly of Britishers, to invest large sums in American securities and industries. If incorrect views are entertained over there about affairs here, of course this tendency will be very much checked. The editor of the Statist realizes that his duty to his readers is to give them accurate information. With this in view he tells them very plainly that the tide of prosperity now risen to such a height in America rests on the solid kind of foundations, and, barring unforeseen contingencies, is to be permanent. Another view he expresses of great importance is that the prosperity ruling in America affects the lowest stratum of the industrial population as well as the highest. As he says: "In Europe too frequently it happens that the wages paid to employees are no more than sufficient to keep body and soul together. Here [in America] the general principle seems to be to pay a rate of wages which will enable the wage-earners to secure a share both of the necessities and of the comforts of life, and at the same time to save considerable sums from year to year. By means of these savings the wage-earners secure a substantial participation in the wealth accruing to capital over and above that which comes to them as laborers."

Mr. Paish goes on, saying that just before he left the United States he received a letter from a correspondent inquiring if wage-earners in America are in fact better off than those in England, or whether the higher rate of wages in America is not neutralized by the higher cost of living. He answers frankly. He finds from observation that the cost of living in America is considerably higher than in Europe, than even in England, but that in spite of this the general scale of wages paid in America does enable the wage-earner not only to live better than his fellow-workman on the other side of the Atlantic, but that there remains over and above that an opportunity to save very considerably. He says: "After meeting all expenditures the wage-earners each year save a substantial average sum, which they place in savings banks or which they use for the purchase of securities, houses, land and business." He further states that he finds all classes of population in America, including even messengers, to be regular investors and to take an interest in securities not known in any other part of the world.

The total savings of the people of the United States are given at as high a figure as $7,500,000,000 a year. The London Journalist scales this down to about $5,000,000,000 a year, but states that the sum is increasing. He says the estimate tallies with the conclusions of government officials, who have shown by statistics that during the years between 1900 and 1904 the wealth of the people of our country had risen from $90,000,000,000 to about $110,000,000,000, but the rate of increase is greater since 1904 than before that. These savings are invested in new houses and in new buildings. Another factor that Mr. Paish noted was the growth of population in the United States, which he estimates at about 1,400,000 people a year, and that this increase in population demands the construction of over 500,000 new dwellings per annum. These new homes reach from the palace of the millionaire to the cottage of the laborer.

The solid foundation underneath this prosperity in the United States consists of the vast natural wealth of the country. The savings of the American people, according to the estimates given above, reach an average of $60 per capita of the population a year, and throwing out minors who are not earners of money, it is about $100 per capita. A great deal of this money goes into investments in stocks and bonds of transportation and other corporations all over the United States. With such a demand for these securities, the market for them is firm. There are more buyers than sellers.

This testimony, coming from an impartial outsider, or, perhaps, one might say, from one biased against our interests, is no less important to ourselves than it is to those for whom the information was furnished through the London Statist. Our people are too prone to forget the happy conditions under which we live here. If they but knew the superior circumstances surrounding their lives as compared with those of their wage-earning brethren on the other side of the Atlantic, they would have less discontent, less industrial agitation, fewer strikes and a great deal smoother going. Another very important effect this clear knowledge would have upon ourselves is that we would enjoy our blessings vastly more if we should only realize the great extent and high degree to which they reach.

EFFECT OF ITO'S ASSASSINATION.

We scarcely needed the advice from Tokio that the assassination of Prince Ito would in no wise change the policy of the Mikado's government as to its treatment of Korea or as to its activities in Manchuria. The dead Prince was a great power in Japan, a strong stay of the Mikado's government, and best equipped of all his countrymen to carry out the designs of Japan on the continent of Asia. But in these matters no man, however great, is indispensable to a nation. Prince Ito formulated much of the policy of Japan as to Korea and Manchuria, but he leaves his plans behind him. The bullet of the assassin could not slay his soul. It remains a part of history and a possession of his country. Under him many minds were busy in carrying out the details of the great plans he had formed, and the work, once under way, will not stop. The hand of the assassin has in no instance ever stayed the onward course of national or world development.

Japan's purposes on the continent of Asia are concealed from the knowledge of the outside world as far as possible. We can only guess at the intentions of the island empire. Immediately after the close of the war with Russia it was very plain that these designs were gigantic in their scope, and as the time has passed we have seen that Japan was intent upon securing an outlet on the continent for her surplus population, on seizing upon all the sources of wealth in Korea and Northern China, on securing for her people all the business that possibly could be seized. At the very beginning of Japanese activity across the strait the late John Hay, then our Secretary of State, felt obliged to lay down in very positive terms the views of the American government as to China. It appeared at once that Japan would aim at the dismemberment of the great empire. In spite of Mr. Hay's declaration and of its reiteration by the American government at different times, Japan has never relaxed her activity for a moment. She has bowed to the dictation of America and proclaimed her concession as to the open door; but at the same time Japan has gone on step by step, and the steps have been very rapid, extending her influence, first through Korea and then in Manchuria. The same policy is proceeding today as energetically and as inexorably as before the Korean patriot killed the head of all these enterprises. Japan has, although none so great as Ito, other great statesmen, great in administrative ability, great in practical experience. The end is not yet in Korea, and a beginning has only been made in Manchuria. The declaration of the late American Secretary of State will have to be reiterated many times in the future; the influence of Japan all through the region in question, will increase in effect, and our struggle there for equal privileges will be unceasing.

If we have come to the end of the road we can look back and say that we were born of good mothers and married good wives, let us thank what gods there be, and, "wrapping the drapery of our couch about us, lie down to pleasant dreams."

The reports are that there are not more than three or four hundred chickens in the entire country; laying eggs, and yet there are plenty of eggs. More things in heaven and earth, Horatio, than are dreamed of in your philosophy.

CONTRAST.

"Tis the warm and ardent sunshine
Makes the cold and chilling snows
The well-dissembled kindness
In the rain that makes the flowers
Our constant quest of pleasure
Gives us woe and grief again
Our grief and disappointment
Makes us good and constant men.

Life is but an alternation
From the joys that men can know
To the dark and gloomy caverns
Of the depths of deepest woe.
But an alternation ever
Bringing back to joy and light
The soul enlarged and strengthened
By the lesson of the night.

'Tis by contrast that our pleasures
Or our griefs to us are known.
Were our lives but those of sorrow,
Soon the soul would cease to grow;
Were our lives but those of pleasure,
Pleasure's joys would cease to be,
And the name of joy or sorrow
Would spell monotony.

HOROSCOPE

BY CORRETTA.

You get today the one who with the sun
From little reasons shall arise great ones.
On this day Uranus is in benefic aspect with Mars, and this is a fortunate power over curiosities, antiquities, traveling and seeing.

Ruling the eccentric and romantic fancies
of mankind, the planet is liable to magnify traits in persons inclined to them, and it will hold a tight rein over the passions.
Uranus in today's aspect is unfavorable to agreements and disputes between married persons, and petty quarrels that at other times would vanish as soon as they began.
Smiling sky behind them, but in danger of developing into serious conflict. It is therefore, to postpone any discussion of cause unpleasantness.

The planets today are evil, also, for loath

GREAT SUCCESS ATTENDS BAN-QUET AT PASADENA.

Eighth Annual Function of "Gym Men" of Y.M.C.A. Is Well Attended—Success Attends Banquet at Pasadena.

Office of The Times No. 28 E. Broadway Ave. PASADENA, Oct. 23.—The eighth annual "gym men" banquet of the Young Men's Christian Association was held last night in the First Baptist Church. It was the most largely attended and most enthusiastic of any of the past years.

The toastmaster was Rev. Albert Hatcher Smith, pastor of the church. The first speaker was Miss Mary, Secretary of the Y.M.C.A., who has been sick for several months, thanked members and friends for their kindness during his illness.

Dr. Schifano spoke on "Salient Facts From the Life of the Late Governor of Minnesota." He used the career of Gov. Johnson as an illustration that wealth and influence are not necessary for American youth to attain the highest honors.

Rev. Leslie E. Learned spoke on "The Association and the Home." Rev. William C. Hull on "The Association and the Church." B. B. Wilson, State Secretary of the Y.M.C.A., on "The Association, a Religious Movement." Music was furnished by the Glee Club.

SOUBA TALKS.
John Philip Sousa delivered an address to the students of Throp Polytechnic Institute yesterday morning. The chapel was crowded with students and friends.

"This is one time when I wish I had my hand with my right hand. I always prefer to entertain my audience with my back to them instead of my face. The successful author or composer must remember that he must have confidence in himself. He must recognize an influence superior to himself in giving him the ability to entertain people, and he must recognize an influence which enables people to understand and appreciate. In all my successes I have always relied on an influence far superior to my own self. Any composer or author who maintains that his success is attributable solely to himself will soon meet with failure."

There are a few don'ts which young people, especially, should remember. Don't be a knocker. Don't say that because you didn't do a thing that it was not because you didn't do it. Don't be too proud to give others their just credit. Don't be stubborn. Don't complain. Always be free to recognize the ability of those around you. Always lend the success of others. This one trait will win you more praise and greater promotion than any other thing you can do.

CHARITY CARD PARTY.
Hotel Maryland will be the scene this afternoon of the largest social function of the early winter, when the society women of the city will gather to play bridge and five hundred in all.

The music room has been reserved for bridge and for five hundred in all. The latter will be by way of quantities of chrysanthemums, and in the music room palms, ferns, hanging baskets of greenery and plumage will be used in decoration.

Mrs. William Knight, president of the Emergency League, under whose auspices the affair is given; Misses J. Dawson Thompson, Adeline Taylor, Philip L. Auler, F. A. Gaylord, Howard A. Stuart, Havel English and Anna Luckey, members of the board of directors, will receive the company and assist in the games. Misses Florence Thompson, Mary and Katherine Wadsworth, Margaret Clark, Louise Hawkins and Elizabeth McMechen will assist in waiting the players and arranging the tables.

Several handsome prizes will be awarded for both games, the donors of these being Misses Mabel Taylor, Philip L. Auler, William F. Kohn, J. Dawson Thompson, Messrs. F. W. Hatcher and Victor Marsh.

"Punch" will be served during the games, and refreshments served at the card tables when play is finished. About five hundred invited guests are expected, and there have been nearly six hundred who have already accepted, which will net something like $25 for the winter's work of the Emergency League. Through the generosity of D. M. Linnard, the hospitality of Hotel Maryland was extended, thus reducing expenses to a minimum.

FALL FLOWER SHOW.
The fall flower show opened yesterday afternoon. Mayor Earley presided. All afternoon and night the big show room filled with "mums," dahlias, roses, orchids and hundreds of other varieties of beautiful flowers.

Experts say the exhibit of chrysanthemums is the best ever given on the Pacific Coast. The largest and most beautiful display is that of Louis Fried, gardener for C. H. Garvey. He has one plant with 72 full-sized white mums of the variety "White Star." He has another grafted plant with eighteen varieties of it. Several single flowers measure over eight inches in diameter.

There are several fine exhibits of vegetables and fruits. One is from the dry tract in the northwest part of the city.

FIRE AT HIGH SCHOOL.
A fire was discovered in the basement of the High School building yesterday afternoon. The fire broke out in the room where the department was holding a meeting, which was three minutes from the time the alarm was given. The fire was extinguished without any damage to the building.

CHAMBERLAIN ENGAGED.
Prof. Arthur H. Chamberlain, formerly dean of Throp Polytechnic Institute, has been engaged by the school board to a salary of $200 per month, to devise plans and equipment for a thorough and modern High School building. Prof. Chamberlain is considered one of the most experienced educators in Southern California.

At the special city election held yesterday for the purpose of authorizing the transfer of the $12,000 in the fund for building outfall sewers to the sewer farm fund for building a septic tank, the total vote of 20, with 12 in favor and 8 against. The septic tank will be built soon.

CHURCH RECEPTION.
The Ladies Aid Society of the First Methodist Church gave a delightful reception last night in honor of Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Matt S. Hughes and Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Fisher. Dr. Hughes is pastor of the church and Dr. Fisher is Woman Makes Stir by Appearing on Long Beach Streets Without 'Em.

LONG BEACH, Oct. 23.—A woman barefooted and wearing a shawl wrapped about her head, attracted considerable attention on the street today, today. Sgt. Kutz was detailed to investigate. The woman was rather shy until Kutz told her he was an officer. Then she explained that her name was Lucretia Rula, and that for twenty years she has been unable to wear shoes or stockings, any attempt to clothe her feet being accompanied by agonizing torture. She realized the attention she attracts and for that reason seldom appears on the street in the daytime. Mrs. Rula is an intelligent and refined woman and was much embarrassed by the attention she attracted.

LOVELY WOMAN, CASUALLY MET, PROVES A THIEF.

On Parting With Charming Female Whose Acquaintance He Unconventionally Makes, Visitor to Long Beach Finds He Is Minus His Pocketbook and a Fat Wal.

LONG BEACH, Oct. 23.—M. B. Parker, of Weatherford, Tex., reported to the police today the loss of a wallet containing $35 in money and drafts amounting to about $100. Payment on the latter has been made. Mr. Parker is uncertain whether he lost the wallet on the beach or he was the victim of a clever woman pickpocket. He inclines to the latter theory. He came here from Los Angeles yesterday and, while waiting along the Pike had his attention attracted by a pretty woman. Self-introductions followed and paved the way for a pleasant acquaintance, which ended with the evening. Soon after Parker started for home he missed his wallet and money. The police have a woman under suspicion, but no arrests have been made.

Despite the loss of the Belmont and Technical schools the report of Superintendent Graham of the Long Beach school district for the first month shows an increase in attendance of $3. The districts withdrawn took away 133 pupils.

Fred Law, a member of the high school football team, whose neck was dislocated in last Saturday's game at Pasadena, may not play any more this year. His physicians fear that rough play would result in another injury, which might prove fatal. He is practicing with the team, but his neck still gives him trouble.

VISIT CLUB RITE.
Chief Engineer Filibury of the Pacific Electric Railway was in the city today. In company with Messrs. Goodhue, Drake and others interested in the Country Club project, he visited the site secured from the Alameda Land Company, with a view to ascertaining the cost of extending the Redondo avenue line. The promoters will begin a campaign for members of the club, next week. The grounds are ample for a polo course, which will be made one of the attractions.

Miss Miss Miller, of Atlanta, Ga., while having her first attempt at fishing on the pier, was surprised and shocked when she pulled up a devil fish. It is one of the largest caught in these waters and measured four feet across. Miss Miller did not take it home with her.

IV. A. Metcalf, aged 65, died this afternoon at his home on East Ocean avenue. He was the father of H. W. Metcalf, architect.

OFFICER "STUNG."
Officer George Austin, while passing a shooting gallery on the Pike last night, felt a sting on his cheek and placing his hand on the spot drew it away covered with blood. Investigation showed that a bullet from a target had rebounded into the thoroughfare and struck the officer. Two months ago Austin was the victim of a similar accident, the bullet hitting him in the eye, and blinding him for several days.

The alfalfa acreage south of here also turned off large crops.

BARN FESTIVAL.
The festival to be held in the big barn south of the Episcopal church by the members of St. Paul's parish tomorrow evening. There will be all sorts of harvest festivities and many booths. Music will be furnished by Miss Thompson's orchestra, and there will be a special variety program. The barn has been attractively decorated, appropriate to harvest time, and the different booths will be presided over by young women and men of the parish.

Dr. Clarence G. Toland has returned from his tour of inspection of the new school buildings erected. Pomona will have over $400,000 invested in school properties.

STREWS ASHES ON COAL.

Pasadena Man Throws Cream-Colored Remains of Wife Upon Ocean from Catalina Steamer.

AVAILON, Oct. 23.—As the Hermosa was crossing the channel this morning, R. R. Traut of Pasadena scattered the ashes of his wife in the wake of the steamer. This morning was bright and calm, and as the cream-colored remains fell upon the tranquil sea, many passengers were deeply impressed.

Mrs. Traut died two weeks ago at her home in Pasadena, after a brief illness. She was 63 years of age. Her last request was that her body be cremated and the ashes thrown from the steamer as it crossed from Pasadena to Avalon. The remains were carried on board in a small copper casket. Mr. Traut and friends will remain on the island for several days. They are guests at the Grand View.

SOUTH PASADENA.

CHOOSE
A CONSERVATIVE
SAVINGS BANK

Before you place your funds in a savings bank, assure yourself of the conservatism of its management. Practically all savings banks throughout the United States are safe depositories—some are safer than others.

Choose a bank that pays you 4 per cent. or 3 per cent. interest (the rate depending on the type of account—"term" or "special") on terms that are COMMENSURATE WITH ABSOLUTE SAFETY—terms that appeal to any thinking person as being consistent with sound, conservative banking.

Conservatism is the foundation upon which this institution has built its success—one of the reasons for its large patronage—53,000 depositors.

Before you select a depository for savings, reserve funds or any surplus moneys that should be earning interest—choose a GENUINELY CONSERVATIVE BANK—one that is conducted in strict accordance with the State laws pertaining to savings banks.

WOMAN DRIVES
OVER OLD MAN

HIS INJURIES INCLUDE BROKEN RIBS AND TWISTED KNEE.

Santa Ana Resident Severely Hurt When Knocked Down and Dragged by Auto—Supervisors Keep Secret Names of Men Who Pass Horticultural Examination.

SANTA ANA, Oct. 23.—Abbe Rowan, aged 74, was run over by an automobile at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon, with the result that two ribs of his right side were broken, his right knee was twisted and his body covered with bruises. Owing to the man's age his injuries may prove serious.

When the automobile, driven by Mrs. Head, wife of Attorney H. C. Head, turned onto Fourth street from Broadway street, Rowan started to cross, his back partly toward the machine.

Mrs. Head blew the horn vigorously, and the automobile stopped. The front wheel went over his right leg. He was dragged partly under the machine, and a rear wheel passed the middle of his body.

The machine was stopped within thirty feet, and the woman who was in it got out and went into the drug store into which Rowan was taken.

KEEP NAMES SECRET.
The Board of Examiners has certified to the Supervisors the names of those who passed the horticultural examination as horticultural commissionees for this county. The list is under seal and will not be open until the meeting of the board next Tuesday.

The four men who took the examination are J. W. Morrison, R. K. Black, E. W. Campbell of Orange and E. M. Crawford of Olive. Fruit growers fear that they will not be given a hearing before the appointment is made.

THE QUESTION AS TO WHETHER or not the deputies provided for under the new Orange county salaries act may draw their salaries was settled so far as Auditor C. D. Lester is concerned by the decision of the Appellate Court in upholding the act. Lester today drew warrants covering the salaries of all deputies appointed under the law, and Treasurer J. C. Foster paid out the money. The warrants for back pay total $393.12. Lester was defendant in the case brought by an assessor's deputy to test the law. He has decided not to take an appeal to the Supreme Court.

SEEMED LIKE A BAD DREAM.

Mrs. Staehle Tells About Cut in Her Throat.

Felt Trickle of Warm Blood
When She Awoke.

Detectives Discard Theory of Attempted Suicide.

For the first time since her throat was cut, on the night of the 17th inst., while she lay asleep in bed at her home at No. 818 Gladys avenue, Mrs. Margaret Staehle was able yesterday to converse at length with the detectives. Instead of clearing up the case, as was expected, her statements threw a new haze of mystery over the circumstances of the crime. After talking with her for some time, Detectives Murray and McCann admitted they were more in doubt as to the identity of the assassin than they had been at any time since the offense was brought to their attention.

Her story was so connected and so probable in all details that the detectives discarded all theories of Mrs. Staehle having attempted to take her own life.

The details, as related by her, differed considerably from the theory the officers had evolved from the extrinsic evidence. She had been sleeping on the conditions at the scene of the crime.

GOING AWAKENING.
"When I awoke, I thought I had been having a bad dream that my throat had been cut," she said. "Then I felt the warm blood on my breast and my throat was full. I put my hand to my neck and found the wound."

"My first thought was of getting to a light. I got out of bed and went to the kitchen. I reached up to turn on the electric light I stepped on something. When I had turned the switch I looked down and saw a white-handled razor on the floor. I picked it up and put it on the table. Then I went into the front room. The door was open and the key was on the outside of it."

"The first person who came in was a negro named Holland. He led me to a chair and called for the ambulance."

She was closely questioned in regard to whether she had left a window open in her bedroom. She declared she remembered distinctly of trying the latch before going to bed. When asked about the key, she said it was one that belonged in the house, but that she could not remember where it was last used, as there were other keys.

Her story caused the police to form a new theory in regard to the key under her bedroom window and the finger prints on the wall. They first thought that the person who had climbed in the window, but they are now convinced that the intruder entered by opening the front door with a key.

Their deductions from the presence of the key now are that the person who committed the crime climbed on it for the purpose of watching Mrs. Staehle when she retired, so as to know where she was sleeping, in order to attempt her life in the darkness.

MYSTERY IN RAZOR.
The mystery as to the ownership of the white-handled razor has in no measure been cleared up. Where Mrs. Staehle left the key that was found in the door now presents a new question that promises to be equally perplexing.

Mrs. Staehle declared to the officers that she had no idea as to the identity of the person who attempted to slay her and could give them no tangible evidence as to a motive for the crime.

Her condition is now much improved and her physicians say it is only a question of time until she will completely recover.

INDORSES GOOD CAUSES.
M. and M. Directorate Approves Voluntary of America and Y.W.C.A. Soliciting Funds.

The application of the Volunteers of America for permission to solicit funds from the merchants for its Thanksgiving and Christmas dinner, was favorably acted upon by the directors of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association, yesterday.

The movement of the Y.W.C.A. to secure additional funds was also indorsed. Dick Ketter's aviation week project was presented to the board, but it being a private enterprise, the directors decided they could not officially indorse it. All, however, expressed their belief that the idea is a good one and that it should be liberally patronized by the citizens.

The following new members were elected: American Dye Works, Pacific Coast Plating Mill Company, West American Rubber Company, Petrolithic Pavement Company, Los Angeles Traveling Exchange, F. G. THAT LITTLE WORD "IF" IN THE WAY.
If dropping a letter makes words so much better (As spelling reformers insist, Would they think it absurd to drop out a whole word?) A word we would gladly see missed? I feel just like telling these meddlers in spelling.

Drop one vicious word from the list. That little word "if" that troublesome "if" That word very much in our way; That vicious word "if" that stubborn word "if." Please take little "if" out the way!

II. If debts were less pressing, If pain less distressing (That little word "if" in the way.) If poor were less wealthy, If sick were less healthy (That little word "if" in the way.) No need then to borrow, and less cause for sorrow.

That little word "if" that troublesome "if" That word very much in our way; That vicious word "if" that stubborn word "if." Please take little "if" out the way!

III. If men were all honest, If each got his due (That little word "if" in the way.) If wives were less jealous, If friends were all true (That little word "if" in the way.) If kind and forgiving, what comfort in living.

That little word "if" that troublesome "if" That word very much in our way; That vicious word "if" that stubborn word "if." Please take little "if" out the way!

IV. If work were less busy, If life had less worry (That little word "if" in the way.) If the bad were all good, If all did as they should (That little word "if" in the way.) We'd all live in clover, and trouble be over.

That little word "if" that troublesome "if" That word very much in our way; That vicious word "if" that stubborn word "if." Please take little "if" out the way!
